

‘INLA UK Nuclear Law Foundation Course’

2nd/3rd June 2016 – London

Every two years, INLA stages an international congress, with nuclear law experts and specialists coming together from around the world to strengthen relations, exchange information, and promote cooperation.

This year, for the first time, INLA UK is holding a UK-focussed Nuclear Law Foundation Course, over 1.5 days in London.

Day one provides an introduction to some of the key concepts and our key note speakers followed by an evening reception and dinner at the Travellers Club, Pall Mall.

Day two comprises detailed practical sessions around two themes (i) new build, and (ii) decommissioning/existing generation.

Purpose of the INLA UK Nuclear Law Foundation Course

The Course will focus on key UK nuclear sector legal issues; it will be practical and interactive. The content is designed for both lawyers practising in nuclear law, and policy makers, regulators and students. It provides an ideal introduction for newcomers to the UK nuclear legal sector, as well as benefitting experienced practitioners.

UK INLA Competition - Prize – Sponsored place at the Inter Jura 2016 – New Delhi

The Course aims to award a Prize to students or solicitors new to nuclear - funding a delegate to attend the INLA 2016 Inter Jura in New Delhi. Details of the competition and prize will be circulated prior to the course. Interested participants should submit a paper on a nuclear law topic; the best paper will win the sponsored place to the Inter Jura, to include entry to the congress, return economy airfare, and hotel. We hope the written paper will also be published with the written materials to the New Delhi congress. Judges will include Roger Clayson, chair (Read Roper & Read) and Stephen Tromans QC (39 Essex St).
